

June Kowalewski

June started her training career at Mutual of Omaha, where she had a passion for helping others succeed. She then moved on to adult education and became a Director of Education and Career Services at Vatterott College. For the past five years, June has been a current professor of Communications and Career Development at Bellevue University.

She has well over 10 years of experience in Adult Education, Training and Development, and Curriculum Development.