

Veronica Wortman Ploetz

Veronica is a certified Human Resources professional with over ten years of project management and communication experience. As part of the Talent Development team, she creates, curates, and delivers experiential learning to individual contributors, managers and company leaders throughout their career.

Her skill set is a unique blend of instructional design, marketing and communications tactics that engages teams of professionals. She is a wife, bonus mom, NPR/PBS junkie, travel enthusiast, wine maker, and volunteer. In addition to her efforts to further the mission of ATD Nebraska, she dedicates her time serving the Women's Center for Advancement, Italian American Heritage Society and Mustaches for Kids-Omaha chapter.
