

Jacky Marino

Jacky Marino is new to the field of training and development and has a background in education and theater. She recently moved from Denver to the Omaha area with her family and feels extremely fortunate to be a part of ATD Nebraska during this transition period of her professional career. Jacky is passionate about infusing her creativity and design thinking strategies into her work and is driven to help others learn and succeed through collaboration, play, and goal setting.

Jacky earned her BA in Theater from Florida State University and is currently earning a Graduate Certificate in Training and Development from UNO.