

Jessica Jones

Jessica Jones is the Learning Management Coordinator and Organizational Development Specialist with Conductix-Wampfler. Previous to that position, she was the Small-Medium Business Group Sales Manager and OJT Training Manager. She earned her Master's Degree in Managerial Communication along with an Executive Coaching Certificate from Bellevue University. As the Learning Management Coordinator and Organizational Development Specialist, Jessica is responsible for creating and delivering training for over 250 US employees along with a number of Global Employees in areas covering, Canada, Mexico, Latin America, Brazil, Asia, France, and Germany to name a few. Training is facilitated via eLearning, classroom, and webinars. In addition to Jessica's training responsibilities, she is responsible for developing individual and team development plans, creating and managing the High Potential Employee Program, Leadership and Management Program as well as the Mentor Program. Jessica is a certified instructor for Stephen Covey's 7 Habits of Highly Effective People.