

Carol Brush

Carol has a Masters Degree in Managerial Science from Bellevue University, focusing on organizational effectiveness, leadership and executive coaching. Carol has been in the training and development field for over 25 years and specializes in training, facilitation, curriculum design, organizational effectiveness, project management, and customer service.

When she isn't working to improve knowledge and skills of team members, she is involved with national associations that specialize in organizational effectiveness and training.