Meray Kim is passionate and creative learning professional with 2 years in the Learning & Development space with a certification in Virtual Facilitation.

Supporting individuals with training for the roles they are taking, the roles they are in, and the roles they want is what she loves to do. She is a huge believer that Learning & Development programs allow people to stretch and grow to their full potential so they can pursue their passions and add more value to the team they are a part of.

Currently at her role at Bank of the West, she is a strategic learning partner to the Contact Center and Collections departments and handles in-person and virtual New Hire facilitation for the two departments.
