

Lindsay Vodicka

Lindsay has been a leader of people for the past 15 years with training and development always in the forefront of what she does. In her current role as a Training Lead at Spreetail, Lindsay provides effective and detailed onboarding programs to allow new hires to be successful in their role. She also builds out easy to navigate team resources, enhancing individual's knowledge base to allow for their long-term success.

Lindsay is passionate about empowering others to challenge themselves to grow beyond what they thought was possible. Pushing the limits and preparing to take on the next big role. She earned her degree in Advertising from the University of Nebraska – Lincoln. Lindsay is a new member to ATD and is excited to jump right into her role as the Director of Professional Development.

Lindsay balances her personal and professional time, and those non-working hours are solely dedicated to her husband and 5 kiddos. Her life motto: "Overprepare, then go with the flow".
